“ As was indicated in her obituary, Anna was an avid auction participant. She so enjoyed attending auctions that had pieces of Dodgeville and surrounding area items. She purchased as many as she could I remembered as I was sometimes bidding against her!

She also so enjoyed being at the Floyd School on the Sunday's there was Open House. She often volunteered on those days to represent the Historical Society and answer questions from visitors. She told of the fond memories she had as a student in a Country School and what a great education it provided for so many young people.

She will be greatly missed by many at the Iowa County Historical Society as well as all the people & places she graced with her ready smile & enthusiasm.
