“ My sympathies to Greg’s family. When I saw that he was back in Dodgeville I often thought of stopping in to let him know how much I appreciated the time (and gas) trying to teach me how to waterski at Blackhawk Lake back in probably middle school with Cheryl. I never forgot that.

Greg was part of our team here at Aquafix for the last several years. I cannot begin to say how much Greg meant to each one of us here. Greg started with us knowing nothing about wastewater treatment or wastewater microbiology and he learned. No matter how complicated the science of what we were talking about Greg never quit and never gave up. He was always learning and always out and about in Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. In the three states Greg covered he made a lot of friends. In working a tradeshow in Lacrosse, Wisconsin Greg made sure he said hi to all the 1000 people at the trade show. There was no one at the trade show who did not know Greg. We are all very lucky to have worked with Greg and to have him as part of our team. Greg's legacy will live on as he will be remembered for his friendships and how he helped customers with wastewater microbiology. Just a great person. He will be missed and I will miss him.
