“ What a sad day it was last Tuesday when I accompanied Mommy to her doctor's appointment. During the ultrasound they found there was no heartbeat. Our hearts fell. There were so many plans for this little one. Little Tucker was so much a part of our future for the whole extended family. The heartbeat was strong one week prior. How that umbilical cord got wrapped around your neck, we will never know.

What a beautiful big boy Tucker was. He had many of the same characteristics that big sister, Hadleigh Rae has, who was looking so forward to your coming home with to them.

But God had other plans. We know that "Each life, no matter how fragile or brief, forever changes the world." We also know that there is much love here to be shared with little Tucker.

Mommy and Daddy stay strong, we all love you, and Hadleigh Rae needs you.

Love you, Tucker.
